It is with great sadness that we confirm all of our pubs, bars, restaurants and hotels are now closed until further notice. Our brewery shops and two of our smaller breweries, Ringwood and Jennings are also closed.

This closure is a response to Government measures to enforce social distancing and therefore reduce the spread of the Coronavirus.

Our other breweries - Eagle, Marston’s, Banks’s and Wychwood – remain open, as do our depots, and we continue to brew and distribute bottled and canned beer throughout the UK.

It’s disappointing to us that we’ve had to close, but it’s the right thing to do in order to keep our employees, customers, guests and communities safe.

However, this won’t stop us from continuing to support our local communities where possible and there have been many inspiring examples of where our people have gone above and beyond to care for others during this unprecedented situation.

We really hope that our doors won’t stay closed for too long and that we can be back playing the important role in our community that we always have.

As loyal customers and guests, we will keep you updated when the situation changes and we look forward to welcoming you back and raising a glass with you in the not too distant future.

Until then, please stay safe and look after each other.
